

M'ENTIRE HEADS "LIMIT CLUB" TO PURCHASE THRIFT BONDS IN COUNTY

J. W. CUNNINGHAM, COUNTY DIRECTOR, TO FORM ORGANIZATION OF FIFTY TO BUY THOUSAND DOLLARS WORTH EACH.

MORE AGENTS ARE WANTED

COUNTY SHOULD HAVE HUNDRED AND TWENTY, SAYS CRAWFORD JOHNSON, STATE THRIFT DIRECTOR.

R. P. McEntire, one of Decatur's most prominent citizens, is heading the "Limit Club" which J. W. Cunningham, county thrift director, has begun to organize. The club is to be limited to fifty members and each member is to buy $1,000 worth of war savings certificates, which is all that the treasury department will sell to an individual.

In heading the club, Mr. McEntire bought $1,000 of the war savings certificates for himself and another $1,000 for his son, LeRoy McEntire, now in the United States navy.

The club has ten members at present, and at an early date announcements will be made as to other members. Director Cunningham is convinced that he will have no trouble in completing the membership.

Morgan county's allotment of the war savings certificates is $70,000. If fifty thousand of this amount is taken by fifty individuals or firms, the remaining twenty thousand will be easily sold to the general public. Already the interest is becoming keen, and postmasters report that sales are rapidly increasing.

Wants 120 Agents.
Director Cunningham will ask for 120 agents for the sale of the government certificates in the county. This will be done in compliance with the following "self-explanatory" letter from State Director Crawford Johnson, of Birmingham:

We have advised you that the national war savings committee expects every state to have at least one sales agent for war savings stamps for every 300 people in the state. These agents are to be in addition to the postoffices, which are not counted as agents in this calculation.

Alabama is therefore expected to have about 7,200 agents, and of this number your county should furnish 120, and at the close of business January 31, our records show that your county has only two agents.

The time for securing agents has been extended to February 15 and I wish to ask that you make a special effort for the next two weeks to secure agents.

In order to reach the number expected of us we must secure as agents, all the banks, stores, laundries, real estate and insurance offices, railroad agents, telegraph and telephone offices and manufacturing concerns of all kinds.

A number of churches have qualified as agents and a number of school teachers have also been appointed. Please do not overlook anybody.

It is by no means sufficient that the postoffices should be the sales agents of these stamps, as they must be on sale at every place where other things are on sale.

On February 15th a list will be issued from Washington showing how nearly the different states have come to securing the number expected of them and I ask your hearty effort in this matter, so that Alabama may not fail to do her part.

If you have not sufficient application blanks, advise us at once and they will be sent to you.

Yours very truly,
National War Savings Committee.
Crawford Johnson, State Dir.

Wadsworth Also Casts a Brick

New York Republican Senator Attacks the Administration

(International News Service.)

Washington, Feb. 5.—Warning the nation that the end of the war is far off, Senator Wadsworth of New York, a republican, called upon congress this afternoon to order a re-organization of the war management as a safeguard against further mistakes of the nature revealed by the army investigation. He particularly urged the passage of the war cabinet and munitions dictator bill.

Senator Wadsworth confined his criticism to the present system of government and made no attack upon individual officials. He praised the many accomplishments of the administration during the past year and described the period through which the nation has just passed as "formative and experimental."

"I would be content," he said, "that this same state of affairs should continue for a short time, were I convinced that the war would end in a short time."

Senator Wadsworth charged that 1,300,000 tons of munitions and supplies were piled up at the docks along the Atlantic coast billed for France and Italy alone and declared that the blame rests with our failure to systematize effort.

The senator charged the coal shortage to a "lack of planning."

With God in the Right Place All Things Are Good, Says Preacher

Dr. Wilks in Sunday Sermon Says Kaiser is Violating Law of Order

Responding to improved weather conditions church-goers were in large attendance at the Albany union service held Sunday night at the Central Methodist church. After the usual congregational singing at the opening, Herman O. Troup sang as a solo "In the Secret of His Presence," with Mrs. Troup as accompanist. A hymn of special interest used was the new prayer for the American army, set to the music of "America."

In announcing this song, Rev. J. C. Persinger, who presided, said that our country had set the world record in the care we are seeking to exercise over the moral, physical and spiritual well being of our soldiers.

Dr. W. P. Wilks delivered a most thoughtful and well rounded sermon, from the first words of the Bible—"In the beginning, God."

The speaker dwelt on the importance of God being first in everything. "Man's spiritual kinship to God," according to the speaker, "should not make him place himself too high; man was also akin to the lowest forms of creation and that he might resemble the princely Henry Clay or just common yaller clay."

It was taught that man was to have control over himself, but not dominion over his fellowmen. "He did not make a set of 'supermen' who should enslave the world and live off of the labor of other men," said the speaker. "When I think of the man who has wrought such great discord I think of his blatant speeches, prior to the war, in which the Kaiser put himself before God, saying 'Me und Gott,' and of this making God's throne secondary to the German throne."

Dr. Wilks' sermon was in part as follows:

"Put God in His right place in anything and you may then describe all things with the word 'good.' In the beginning of the day, the week, the month; in the beginning of business or professional dealings; in the beginning of social relationships; in a new beginning for your own life—let God be there and it will be good for you and for those with whom you are brought in contact.

"Well begun is half done" is a saying with which we are as familiar as it is sometimes untrue. Often a good beginning may be marred by the turn taken later. And yet, a good beginning is greatly to be desired. The task started right is more apt to be continued correctly. The life well-born gives far greater promise for the future than one begun under adverse circumstances. It is worth something to know that a day started with smiling skies even if the clouds do come as the day advances.

"Whatever we may say of the world in which we live, it had a good beginning. The first verse of Genesis carries us back to the beginning and the verses that follow describe it as good. Let us look through the description of creation and note ways in which it was good.

"1. The beginning was marked everywhere by order. This seems to have been nature's first law. The picture of things preceding the beginning of creation is that of chaotic confusion, but the act of creation brings order out of chaos. The darkness is separated from the light, the heavens from the earth, the waters gathered into seas and the dry land appearing. Look where you will and you find evidences of the work of the God of order. The sun never misses its daily schedule; the stars never bump into one another, nor do the planets tread on each others' toes. Within the world it is the same way. Every zone has

(International News Service.)

Washington, Feb. 5.—Whether there will be any more "heatless Mondays" was definitely decided this afternoon. Whether there will be or will not be a continuance of these industrial shutdowns will not be made known until tonight.

Neither Dr. Garfield or Director McAdoo allowed an inkling of their decision to get out. It is thought that Dr. Garfield gave reasons for their continuance. While the decision might not apply to all the remaining seven Mondays, they would be continued until it was certain that no further need existed.

Millions of Pounds American Bacon is Going to France

(International News Service.)
Washington, Feb. 5.—Despite the U-boat menace, embargoes and strict license requirements on shipments of supplies abroad, the United States shipped vast quantities of meat products to the allies during December, according to figures made public by the department of commerce. Shipments of bacon to France alone in December totalled 5,901,303 pounds.

ENEMY ALIENS ARE HARD TO LOCATE

REPORTS INDICATE THAT THERE ARE NONE IN THE COUNTY.

German enemy aliens are scarce articles in Morgan county, judging from the registration returns up to noon today. At that hour not a single subject of Germany had come forth to be registered as such, and the indications were that very few, if any, would be found during the week.

The registration of German citizens began yesterday morning and will continue through Saturday. In Albany, the task is in charge of W. D. Cobb, chief of police. In other sections of the county, the postmasters are the registration officers.

Failure on the part of any German enemy alien to register, carries severe penalties. All who do not obey the proclamation of President Wilson will be immediately arrested if found.

(International News Service.)

Washington, Feb. 5.—Prohibition as a war emergency measure may come to the territory of Hawaii. The issue has been put up to President Wilson upon representations of a military necessity. Sheriff Forman stated today that he would probably carry the prisoners to Ft. Oglethorpe tomorrow and turn them over to the military authorities.

The Tennessee river will begin falling at Decatur tomorrow, according to the prediction today of the Chattanooga weather bureau. This morning the stage at Decatur was 21.6 feet, and the stream was still rising. The crest will probably reach 22 feet, and may slightly exceed that figure.

At Chattanooga this morning the gauge showed 23.2 feet, at Bridgeport 22.4 feet and at Guntersville 36.9. The river was falling at all these points.

Washington, Feb. 5.—Faulty distribution has caused the American coal shortage. This is the gist of information and preliminary reports which the senate sub-committee which investigated the shortage made. He cabled that on Jan. 29, the Roumanian minister to Petrograd was given ten hours to leave for Jassy. He made it plain that the relations between Roumania and the present Russian government are critical.

GERMAN SOLDIERS SCOFF AT THEIR AUSTRIAN ALLIES

(International News Service.)

Geneva, Feb. 5.—The hostility between Austrian and German soldiers on the eastern front has spread to the Italian front, according to a dispatch from Milan today. Austrian prisoners have told their Italian captors that the German officers encourage their men to scoff at the Austrians and to taunt them with the assertion that they could do nothing against the Italians until they got German aid. So far there has been no news of armed clashes.

Foggy weather continued on Monday and the Germans shelled the roads behind the American front with gas shells, but there were no casualties.

LIEUT. W. S. HOWARD MEETS WITH LOCAL EXAMINING BOARD.

Lieut. W. S. Howard, M. C. N. S., one of the examining physicians at Camp Pike, Ark., met this morning with the Morgan county examining board, and also with Dr. Taylor of Lawrence county.

The purpose of the visit, it was stated, was to explain the new regulations governing the examination of drafted men. However, the visiting physician could give no hard and fast rules, merely advising the physicians here to use their best judgment.

Stanley Wyatt, assistant cashier of the Central National Bank, volunteered to appear for examination for the purpose of a demonstration. He is under weight, according to the old specifications. Lieut. Howard advised that he should be accepted, but said that he had no exact specifications as to weight and height.

Zurich, Feb. 5.—The heavy ultimatum imposed upon Dittman, socialist member of the Reichstag, for addressing a meeting of strikers at Berlin, has aroused high feeling among the socialists who plan to bring the matter before the chamber of deputies. It was learned from Munich that Dittman was sentenced to two years and two months for "inciting treason."

(International News Service)

Amsterdam, Feb. 5.—Decisions far reaching importance bearing on the future policies of the German government are expected to result from the councils of the ton chiefs, which opened in yesterday, according to information received today from the German press.

It is reported that the representatives of the central empires have decided to serve an ultimatum upon Bolsheviki delegates at the Litovsk peace conference, demanding rejection or acceptance of the man terms in a specified time. Other question which is absorbing attention of the German representatives is the divergence of principle between the recent war aims speech Count Czernin and Chancellor Hertling. The Germans aim to bring the Austrians into line and have further overtures which the Austrians intend to make to the United States.

TCHCOCK'S PUEBIL
TACK ON BAKER.

That the most effective allies which central powers have in the present war do not dwell either in Berlin or Vienna is being daily demonstrated. Proof of this is found in the recent maneuvers of so-called American troops, headed by the ill-odored and the self-seeking Roosevelt, trailed by the misguided Chamberlain and the boisterous Hitchcock. A coterie of word slingers has undertaken to give aid and comfort to enemy by waging a propaganda against American cohesion in the conduct of the war. Strange as it may seem, although the trick is not a new one, they are cloaking their actions under the guise of a patriotic movement to secure the co-ordination of various departments of the government, already moving straight ahead to an open objective under the guidance of President Wilson.

One of the most remarkable and unnecessary speeches ever delivered on the floor of the senate was that of Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska. This impetuous outburst was intended to credit Secretary of War Baker with able defense of his officials and to open the eyes of the world as to tremendous accomplishments of a few months that the United States had been in the war. Mr. Baker had home. He had knocked the last nail from under his adversaries. Unable to refute his statements that half a million men were in France and a million more ready to go, Senator Hitchcock sought to show that there was no shipping available to transport so large a number of men nor the supplies necessary for their maintenance. Baker's statement was characterized as "absolutely preposterous" so exaggerated as to create an entirely false impression.

It is all that Senator Hitchcock said, true—and it is not—the American people demand to know just what he had to accomplish by apprising the world of this fact. It could be contended that the investigation of the department might result in the betterment of conditions. It is not to be contended that the shout abroad of any inadequacy of shipping facilities could do any possible harm, especially in view of the fact that every energy is already being directed to the creation of a large merchant fleet.

The voice that spoke in the halls of Congress, was the voice of the German propagandist. It was the voice of hostile criticism. It was pitched high that it would reach every disbeliever. The speaker intended to arouse America, but to dethrone President Wilson. He intended to produce discontent; to stir factional feeling; to encourage sedition by promoting dissatisfaction.

President Wilson does not know what is going on, as Mr. Hitchcock would have it. It is possible that this gentleman, merely a senator under a curbed authority, did be so well informed as to what nation needs and what has been done? Should he have run away hoping to fight again some other day? Or should he have acted with courage and decision? The fact that he took no chances against a possible treacherous enemy will not reduce his rank in the eyes of the American people. They rather like an officer who makes it a point to see that his own ship keeps afloat under any circumstances.

That the nation is behind the president in his conduct of the war can be inferred from the fact that the house of representatives, soon to be re-elected, is showing a brand of patriotism that should shame the senate.

Is it merely a coincidence that certain senators have been unable to see any good in the administration since it assumed control of the railroads?

Washington, Feb. 5.—As the result of the work of Col. "We will never win the war by a revolution in Germany," he declared, after an investigation.

No Labor Shortage In United States

Plenty of Men to Run War Industries.

(International News Service.)
Washington, Feb. 5.—America has enough men for all war industries. There are millions of skilled workmen and laborers, and despite the fact that more millions are under arms, there is a hysteria reigning in shop and office born of widespread and unfounded belief in a general labor shortage. The department of labor has dug deep into the problem and has found that state branches of the United States employment service are calling for thousands when only scores are needed and often with absolutely no housing arrangements for the men.

its animal life and vegetation suited to its peculiar climate. Order is found everywhere—except when man gets out of gear. He may disturb the order of society, of the state, of the home, or of the church by giving allegiance to the author of confusion rather than to the God of order.

"Behold in creation a great progressive act. When the scientist of the past century stumbled up on the fact that there are evidences of a development in creation, with a constant progress from lower to higher forms, he thought he had discovered something new. But he was some three thousand years late in making this discovery. Moses knew it and set it forth, not as a theory but as a fact, a millennium and a half before the coming of Christ. It is worthy of remark that, in the large, Moses said those forms did precede which the scientist declared ought to have preceded others. God's work and God's call is ever for progress. He would have us evolve, not devolute. Moreover, Moses knew and taught that man is akin to the lower orders of creation. Out of the same sort of material was he made. Rise as we may there is ever a dust tie holding humanity to the other units of creation. But Moses did not forget that which some scientist failed to learn—that man's creation also makes him akin to God. Into his nostrils was breathed the very breath of God. A living soul separates him from the things which are merely of earth. "In creation we see, thirdly, a God of benevolent purpose. He would have man to become master of the earth. So, He gives to him dominion over all the lower orders in the world. It is not to develop a few 'supermen' who shall become the lords of creation; but that every man should be a sure-enough man. And so man should not descend from his intended dominion to become a slave to anything. Born to be a king, he should cultivate kingly qualities in keeping with the purpose of God for him.

"Another part of God's purpose for man is that man should become the companion of God. George Adam Smith, I think it is, tells of the attitude of some of the native Christians in the Orient towards the Mohammedans. As an illustration of their hostility, he recounts a conversation in which he urged upon a Christian there the duty of preaching to the Mohammedans. But the native does not hear to such, declaring that does not wish to save the Mohammedans. 'Why did he make them,' asked Dr. Smith. The reply, back without hesitation, 'To hell with.' If we believe the though, we cannot accept this with regard to any man. God's purpose for man was not so. He have him for a companion."

If you want to buy goods for less than their regular value at least five or ten per cent, buy from the BIG BARGAIN STORE, W. W. He finds Merchandise apparently high—but not so, they are cheap considering the prices of the products of the farmer. Everything must seek its level.

REV. R. W. LEWIS, With the "Flying Squadron."

A company of workers composed of Dr. W. L. Darby, Herman L. Turner and Rev. R. W. Lewis, and known as the "Flying Squadron," will spend three days at the Westminster Presbyterian church this week, beginning Wednesday evening. These men are sent out by the Home Mission Committee of Alabama Synod to discuss questions of vital interest relative to home life, church and Sunday school methods and efficiency. Their mission is "Not to preach, but to teach."

They are experts on the various lines of work which they will discuss. They come well recommended by pastors and churches wherever they have been. The subjects presented by them will be of interest to all denominations, and the public is cordially invited to attend. The hours of service will be 2:30 in the afternoon and 7 in the evening.

OLD ALBANY RESIDENT GIVEN UP BY PHYSICIANS

"Given up by five doctors, my only hope an operation. I rebelled on cutting me open, as I am 75 years old. A neighbor advised trying May's Wonderful Remedy for stomach trouble. I got relief right away. I had not eaten for 10 days and was as yellow as a gold piece. I could have lived only a few days but for this medicine." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.

ALBANY RED CROSS DOES GOOD WORK

MANY KNITTED ARTICLES FOR SOLDIERS TURNED OUT DURING MONTH

The regular monthly meeting of the Albany Red Cross was held at the Y. M. C. A. last night, with the chairman, Rev. L. F. Goodwin, presiding.

In the absence of the secretary, Prof. R. W. Cowart, Mrs. A. B. Carriger was elected secretary pro tem.

Under reports of committees, Mrs. H. S. Roberts reported for the hospital garment committee, 40 bed suits and 15 pairs of pajamas finished in the month of January, and a large number in course of construction. Knitted garments reported for the month were 26 sweaters, 4 helmets, 8 pairs wristlets and 50 pairs of socks. Mrs. W. R. Hall, who presented his report for Mrs. W. A. Duncan, stated that of 22 pairs socks sent in by one unit, that Mrs. W. A. Simpson and her mother knitted 13 pairs. It was reported that most of the large stock of yarn recently secured had been given out, and would soon be made into finished garments. One box was sent to New Orleans during the month. It was stated that the ladies of Mooresville had in course of construction a large number of knitted garments for the Albany chapter.

Letter From Prof. Cowart.

An interesting feature of the meeting was the hearty appreciation expressed of the work of Secretary Cowart, who is now in an officers' training camp in Virginia.

Rev. Goodwin read the following letter from Prof. Cowart, which is self explanatory:

Albany, Ala., Jan. 29, 1918.
To the Albany Chapter American Red Cross Society.

My Dear Friends and Co-workers: The articles of comfort sent to me for use during my service to our country at war, expressed to me a beautiful spirit that prompted the gift. I can but feebly express to you my deep appreciation of your thoughtfulness and interest in my welfare.

The bonds of friendship that have existed between us have been welded together into a great band that shall last through life, and the fires of brotherly love that have been kindled burn with a more fervent heat.

Though these presents will often bring you to mind, they will not be necessary to my memory of the kindnesses you have shown me. With deepest appreciation, I am, Yours friend,

RALPH W. COWART.

Washington, Feb. 5.—The house interstate commerce and foreign commerce committees today decided to strike from the administration railway bill a section that would bring all employees of the government-controlled railroads under a system of workmen's compensation. The Nations of the World Are Beseeking the American Dairy Cow to "Do Her Bit"

In Europe the shortage of labor and fodder and the crying need for meat have caused the slaughter of dairy cows by the million.

America must supply the world with butter and other dairy products, and not only that, but America must prepare to supply Europe with millions of dairy cows after we have won the war.

Only the short-sighted farmer will dispose of a good dairy cow under such conditions. The wise farmer will increase his herd. He will raise every well-favored heifer calf. The days ahead of us are the days of the dairy farmer. The man who increases his herd can reap a big reward now and a greater one in the years to come.

Now Mr. Farmer, the Nations of the world are appealing to you to produce dairy products, the Dairy Cow is ready and willing to do her part. We are offering you the best market in the South today for your milk and cream, and will buy every gallon you have to sell.

It's simply "up to you" will you do your bit?
Come in and let's talk it over.
